

Bank Sohar Sponsors National Day Events for Oman Medical College in Sohar

Bank Sohar sponsored the Oman Medical College to celebrate National Day on its campuses in Sohar by supporting a wide arrange of activities that students organised on 22 November.

As Oman's newest and youngest bank, students are a key audience and Bank Sohar was delighted to be given the opportunity by Oman Medical College to sponsor and support these exciting events in Sohar.

The Bank's DGM for Retail Banking Khalfan Al Taley said: "Young people are the future of our country and we were very proud to help the students from Oman Medical College celebrate the 39th National Day.

"As a young nation with over 50 per cent of our population now of school age, our country needs young banks like ours with fresh thinking and a dynamic approach to the delivery of financial services.

"We believe it is our freshness, open minded and transparent approach to the way we conduct our business that our customers and business partners are finding so refreshing and we are delighted to have been able to show that approach directly to students on the Sohar campuses."

The support for the National Day celebrations is one of a number of activities that Bank Sohar has undertaken during the year to support both young people and the communities the bank serves at locations all over the Sultanate of Oman.
